*Spinal regions include the cervical spine (neck), thoracic spine (upper/mid back), lumbar spine (low back), sacrum (between hip bones), and coccyx (below sacrum). Extrapinal manipulation includes hips, shoulders, legs, feet, arms, hands, and head including the jaw. Chiropractic manipulation is billed based on the regions adjusted with any extraspinal manipulation being added. For example, if an individual has their TMJ and neck adjusted codes 98940 AND 98943, they would be billed for an adjustment total of 55 dollars not including any additional services. Extrapinal manipulation is not dependent on the number of joints or joint complexes adjusted, meaning the same amount is billed for adjusting one extraspinal joint as adjusting three extraspinal joints.
